

Alex Marsh, 2015

View from the Penarth Centre, Penarth Street

View from the Penarth Centre towards the Tustin Estate and overlooking Diespeker, a specialist stone cutting firm based on Ormside Road. Established in 1881, Diespeker have been based in their current location since 2000, benefiting from their proximity to customers in Central London

Alex Marsh, 2015

Thompson & Son, Hatcham Road

Thompson & Son specialise in the manufacture and refurbishment of hydraulic valves and presses. Originally established in 1888, the company has operated from their Hatcham Road site since the mid-1930s

Alex Marsh, 2015

Purpose Powder Coatings, Hatcham Road

PPC specialise in powder coating, a type of dry coating applied to metal products in order to give them a protective layer. Originally founded in 1939 in Islington, the company takes on a wide range of work with major commissions including the complete powder coating of all the cable trunking for the Post Office Tower

Alex Marsh, 2015

Flux Metal, Hatcham Road

Flux Metal are a metalwork business specialising in commissions for artists, events, and public projects. Founded by James Garner in 1996, their back catalogue is impressively diverse, with commissions ranging from the enormous - giant, flaming bat-symbols and instillations at the Tate Modern - to (slightly) more everyday objects - bronze beer taps and a Piranha bar sign

Alex Marsh, 2015

Trade Winds, Hatcham Road

Trade Winds are a commercial printing firm servicing clients in central London. Their hefty Heidelberg printers spew out posters, catalogues, brochures and leaflets for customers including Transport for London, the British Museum, and the Greater London Authority

High Street, Old Kent Road

ZamZam Grocers, Old Kent Road

Alex Marsh, 2015

Butlers Dry Cleaners, East Street

Butlers Dry Cleaners have been operating from their current location for the past 13 years, serving a solid base of returning customers from the local area

Alex Marsh, 2015

Mad House Tyres, Albany Road

Operating from their Albany Road showroom as well as a small warehouse unit on Devon Street, Mad House Tyres are 1 of 38 vehicle repair businesses in the area.

Alex Marsh, 2015

Toys 'R' Us, Old Kent Road
View towards the Toys 'R' Us shed, with the towers of the Tustin Estate rising in the background

Alex Marsh, 2015

Gas Works and South London Timber, Old Kent Road

View over the Old Kent Road gas holders, the oldest of which dates back to the 1870s, with South London Timber in the foreground. The gas holders are perhaps one of the few "iconic" structures along the Old Kent Road, their sheer size and longevity helping them to worm their way into the area's collective consciousness

Alex Marsh, 2015

Southwark Metals, Sandgate Street

Southwark Metals are a company dealing in scrap metal. Based on Sandgate Street the company has been operating in the area for more than 35 years

Alex Marsh, 2015

Capital Chrome, Old Kent Road

Capital Chrome are a electro-plating specialists, a chemical process used to apply a thin layer of chromium to an object. The company has developed a particularly loyal customer base among vintage car and motorbike restorers

Alex Marsh, 2015

Souvenir Scenic Studios, Verney Road

Souvenir Scenic Studios are a theatre set construction company. Recent commissions include sets for the 'Made in Dagenham' musical and the recent Alexander McQueen retrospective

Alex Marsh, 2015

Weber Industries, Haymerle Road

Weber Industries are an arts fabrication firm based in the ground floor of an artist studio building on Haymerle Road. They have been commissioned for a huge variety of projects with past clients including large retailers such as Jack Wills and Harrods, and artists including Karin Ruggaber and Jess MacNeil