LOCAL HOUSING FORUMS - Everyone who lives in a council home, including council owned temporary accommodation, can attend their Local Housing Forum. At these meetings, you can take part in discussions with council officers and councillors on a wide range of housing related topics. Subjects may include how the council can better spend funding on improving homes and estates or how the council allocates homes. Local meetings are a place where you can have your say on important council policy changes. You can also find out how the council is doing in services like repairs, new homes building and major works. There are five Local Housing Forums. Meetings are chaired by a resident chair and are held quarterly
