

Your commercial waste collection is changing

From 7 December, we'll be providing timed refuse and recycling collections in your area to make it cleaner and more pleasant for everyone.

Please read on to see what your business needs to do.

At the moment, many businesses and flats don't have enough space to store their refuse and recycling, meaning sacks of waste are often left on the pavement. Set times to put your waste on the pavement, after which the waste is promptly collected, mean that for most of the day, there will be no waste on the pavement.

All businesses that produce any amount of waste are required by the Environmental Protection Act 1990, Section 34 to ensure that their waste is disposed of in an appropriate and legal manner. This is called 'duty of care'. Failure to comply with duty of care can result in prosecution. Whoever provides your commercial waste collections will also need to observe the new local timed collection arrangements, or you will be fined and could be prosecuted.

What do I do?

Help us make your neighbourhood a cleaner, more enjoyable place to live and work. If your business is on one of the streets where the scheme is operating:

- You need to place your waste out and arrange for it to be collected within specified time slots so that for the rest of the day the street is clear of waste.
- Please place your waste out for collection by the kerb in front of your business to the side of any pedestrian crossing points.
- Place waste out only during the time slots shown and arrange for your collection contractor to remove it within one hour.
- If sacks are left out on other streets or at other times enforcement action may be taken.
- If you have a commercial waste bin it must be kept on your premises. You can place it out for collection at the same times permitted for waste sacks, but it must be returned to your premises when the timed collection slot ends. If you are unable to keep your bin on your premises you must make arrangements for it to be removed and make alternative arrangements for your commercial waste storage.
